IMPORTANT OPINIONS OF THE STATE TREASURER.

In response to letters of inquiry, State Treasurer Jenkins has given the following opinions for the guidance of those interested;

Peddlers of liquor if manufactured in the State, or if the peddler is the manufacturer or agent of the manufacturer, will not be required to take out a peddler's license, but must pay the tax imposed upon all persons dealing in the same species of merchandise, the same to be paid to the Sheriff of the County in which the liquor is manufactured.

Parties purchasing liquor in the State to sell again must pay five per cent. tax on all purchases, provided the tax on the said liquor has not already been paid by some wholesale dealer in liquor in the State. Those interested are referred to section 10, schedule B, of the Revenue Act for 1873,'74.

The form of license to be given by Sheriffs to all classes of business men designated in this law, is provided for on page 38 of the Revenue Act.

THE SCATTERED PEOPLE.

For nearly 3,000 years this ancient people have been scattered over the face of the earth, in accordance with the records and prophecies of these holy writings; and from the very time of the beginning of their fulfillment until within the last 100 years, Jewish history has been a monotonous series of bitter persecutions and patient suffering. In early ages oppressed and massacred by Pagan emperors, sold into slavery or driven into exile, they still maintained their purity as a race and their peculiar characteristics as an organization. It is true that many, surrounded by the influence and fearing the wrath of idolatrous nations, fell away from their ancient faith, and, despised by their more steadfast brethren, became wretched 'outcasts in Israel.' Mocked, tortured, persecuted in all times, the Hebrews still ever firmly adhered to the tenets of their faith, persevering their religion with a tenacity that defiled exile, tyranny and time.

The Mohammedans, though they borrowed many of their tenets of their religion from the Jews, have been the most cruel oppressors of the Jewish people, regarding them as unclean,' and only to be tolerated on account of their knowledge of the arts, and their utility in the various professions and trades. Their laws subject Jews to the severest penalties and humiliations, and resistance to their enforcement is frequently punished with death. Jerusalem at the present day is chiefly inhabited by Mohammedans and a very small number of Christians, while the Jewish population occupy a little more than a twentieth part of the city. Their condition, in one sense, is pitiable in the extreme. They behold their once glorious city garrisoned by infidel soldiers, and its sacred places covered by barracks, mosques, and convents, while they themselves are penned up in narrow and miserable quarters. With what longing must they look forward to the day when 'the city shall be built unto the Lord,' and 'it shall not be plucked up nor thrown down any more forever!'

In spite of adverse circumstances, learning flourishes in Jerusalem; the Jews, as a rule, in the city, devoting themselves to study of Hebrew literature, in the thirty-six colleges maintained for the purpose by contributions from all parts of the world.

In papal kingdoms, where for ages they have been debarred from the cultivation of the fine arts and sciences, excluded from the universities and government service, heavily taxed for the maintenance of church power, and despised and tortured, they have become more morally, physically, and spiritually degenerate than any other communities of their race; but, happily, a new and brighter era has begun to dawn upon the Roman Jew, and he may yet throw off the shackles of his degradation and prove himself worthy of his glorious ancestry and name, and the equal of those who have so long ground him in the dust.

The line of distinction between Gentile and Jew is most rigidly defined in Poland, there being no association whatever among them with people of other faiths. Oppressed in the most cruel manner by Russian rule, they cling together in closest sympathy, the glorious promises of their religion affording them their greatest consolation. With the knout and Siberia ever threatening him for any failure in duty or respect to the Russian government, what wonder that the Polish Jew has became the most cunning and time-serving of his race? Notwithstanding the tyrannies of her rulers, Poland has produced minds of the highest order of culture, furnishing rabbis for the synagogues of Europe and America. In her territory the study and practice of orthodox Judaism is the learned Hebrew's chief delight, and no where else are the essential principles of the faith so well understood, or the various religious feasts and fasts so scrupulously observed.

Judaism in France is rapidly declining, partly through the influence of Roman Catholicism, but chiefly from the contaminating laxity of the French people. In no country is the Jew so lax in the observance of the principal commands of his faith, nor so tinctured by the superstition of his Christian associates and the levity of his infidel neighbors. In every branch of commerce, science and art, however, they have won for themselves the highest distinction, and in the army and legislative halls of France they are a decided power, many holding the highest military and governmental rank.

In Prussia the Jews, limited to their pursuit of many other aims, have devoted themselves extensively to commerce, and become the 'merchant princes' of the earth; and in Holland, also, their wealth is enormous, there being no richer community in the world than the Jews of Amsterdam. They are, nevertheless, excluded in both countries, with rare exceptions, from the society of the aristocracy. As a general rule in European countries, with the exception of France, the Jews meet with simple toleration and exceptional recognition from the higher classes, while the lower orders of the people retain for them an almost mediæval contempt. They have their fixed quarters in the meanest portions of the cities, emerging from them to aristocratic neighborhoods in the more enlightened countries, only on the accumulation of great wealth.

But in England, France and America, Hebrew genius meets its fullest recognition and reward. On the records and rolls of honor of the three countries there appear many an honored Jewish name; Ricardo and Disraeli in England, Cremieux and Fould in France, as statesmen, and many others as brilliant in music, literature, science and art.

In reviewing the history of this scattered people, one is struck with astonishment at their fortitude under prosecution, and their undying faith in the promises concerning their restoration to God's favor.

THE ORIGIN OF DIXIE.

During the existence of the New Orleans Delta, a correspondent of that journal gave an interesting description of the origin of our famous 'Dixie.' The writer's account of its rise, progress and final fruition into one of the most popular of national melodies is as follows:

'I do not wish to spoil a pretty illusion, but real truth is that 'Dixie' is an indigenous Northern negro refrain, as common to the writer as the lamp-posts in New York city, seventy-five years ago. It was one of the every-day allusions of boys at that time in all their out door sports. And no one ever heard of Dixie's land being other than Manhattan Island untill recently, when it has been erroneously suppposep to refer to the South, from its connection with pathetic negro allegory. When slavery existed in New York one 'Dixy' owned a large tract of land on Manhattan Island, and a large number of slaves. The increase of the slaves and increase of the abolition sentiment caused an emigration of the slave to more thorough and secure slave section; and the negroes who were thus sent off (many being born there) naturally looked back to their old homes, where they had lived in clover, with feelings of regret, as they could not imagine any place like Dixy's. Hence it became synonimous with an ideal locality, combining ease, comfort and material happiness of every description.

In those days negro singing and minstrelsy were in their infancy, and any subject that could be wrought into a ballad was eagerly pick up. This was the case with 'Dixie.' It originated in New York, and assumed the proportions of a song there. In its travels it has been enlarged, and has 'gathered moss.' It has picked up a 'note' here and there. A 'chorus' has been added to it, and from an indistinct 'chant' of two or three notes it has become an elaborate melody. But the fact that it is not a Southern song 'cannot be rubbed out.' The fallacy is so popular to the contrary that I have thus been at pains to state the real origin of it.

PROFITS OF COTTON FACTORIES.

As considerable interest has already been manifested in our city in regard to the establishment of a cotton factory, we slip the following items (in regard to the great profit that is made in that city from the manufacture of that staple) from the Columbus (Ga.) Enquire:

The Columbus Enquirer says that since August 31, the Columbus factories have taken 3,902 bales of cotton, against 2,646, last season during the same time, showing an increase of 1,256. If these 3,902 bales had been sold in this market at present prices, they would have brought $70 per bale, or a total of $273 140. They, however, were passed through our factories, converted into yarns and cloths, and their value trebled, making them worth $819,420, leaving a net gain to Columbus of $465,280 All this money is retained in that section. The manufactories consume yearly a little over 7,000 bales.—Ex.

DECADENCE OF NEW ORLEANS.—One of the oldest merchants in New Orleans, in a recent letter to a correspondent in Boston, says the population of New Orleans has fallen off in two years 30,000, and there are no less than 6,000 houses and stores at present unoccupied. Fifteen years ago New Orleans was at the acme of its wealth, prosperity and commercial importance, second only to New York and Boston. Its river and ocean tonnage in port, loading and discharging, was seldom less than 150,000 tons, and in the businst season of the year double that amount.

At clergyman at Clarinda, Ohio, was away from home when the crusade began. He returned in the evening, and saw his wife standing at the bar of a saloon, singing as loud as she could yell. He supposed she was drunk, and entering the saloon, the tears rolling down his face, he said: 'Come home wife; you have ruined me—drunk—drunk—drunk.'

'The day is not far distant,' says a Raleigh paper, 'when the world will begin to look on death as a journey to another country.' The Louisville Courier Journal assents to this, and naively adds that the journey will be one on which we can all go as dead-heads.

One cold winter morning a very pretty girl stopped and bought a book of a ragged boy. 'Poor little fellow!' she said, 'ain't you very cold?' 'I was, ma'am, before you passed,' was the reply.

A SAD STORY.

A little boy having heard a beautiful story about a little boy and a hatchet, and how, because the little boy wouldn't tell a lie, he in time got to be President of the United States, was very much impressed by it. Now it so happened that on the last day of March he was just ten years old, and his father asked him what he would like to have for a birthday present. Very naturally the boy's answer was, "A little hatchet, if you please, papa."

The father bought him a little hatchet that very day, and the boy was so delighted that he actually took it to bed with him.

Early next morning he got up, dressed himself, took his little hatchet and went out into the garden. There, as luck would have it, the first thing that caught his eye was his father's favorite cherry tree. 'My eyes!' exclaimed the little boy to himself, 'what a time my father would make if a fellow were to cut that tree!' It was a wicked thought, for it led him into temptation. There was the tree—tall, straight and fair—standing invitingly before him—just the thing for a sharp little hatchet. And there was the hatchet—strong, sharp and shining—just the thing for a favorite cherry tree. In another instant the swift strokes of an axe were heard in the still morning air, and before long a small boy was seen running toward the House. His father met him at the door.

'My boy, what noise was that I herd just now? Surely you have not been at my favorite cherry tree!'

The boy stood proudly before him, but with downcast eyes and flushed cheeks. 'Father,' he said, 'I cannot tell a lie. That cherry tree is—'

'Say no more,' said the father, extending his arms. 'You have done wrong, my son; and that was my favorite tree; but you have spoken the truth. I forgive you. Better to—'

This was too much. The boy rushed into his father's arms.

'Father,' he whispered; 'April fool! I haven't touched the cherry tree; but I 'most chopped the old apple-stump to pieces.'

'You young rascal, you!' cried the father, 'do you mean to say you haven't chopped my cherry tree! April fool your old father, will you! Take off your coat, sir!'

With a suppressed sob that little boy obeyed. Then, shutting his eyes, he felt his father's hand descend upon his shrinking form.

'My son,' said the father, solemnly, as he stroked the little shoulder, 'it is the first of April. Go thy way.'

EXTRAORDINARY OCCURRENCES.

An Orion correspondent of the Greenville South Alabamian vouches for the truth of the following statement:

On the 13th day of December, last about 4 o'clock P. M; Mrs. Ward, an old lady living with her son, being in the house alone, was surprised to see cornstalks, sticks, bark, etc; strike the door-shutter and fall on the floor. She arose, went to the door, but seeing no one she became alarmed, and called her daughter-in-law, who was some paces from the house, in the field, saying to her to run there, for an evil spirit was there (or "the devil,' to use her own words.) Mrs. Ward, on reaching the house and witnessing the phenomenon, was so much frightened that she was immediately seized with an ague. Mr. Ward, who was some distance from the house, with another man, at work was sent for. Pieces of wood bark, corn-stalks and light-wood (pine) striking against the door-shutter still continued. He sent for several of his neighbors, who witnessed it through Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, till eight or nine o'clock, when it ceased.

Pieces of wood eight or twenty inches in length, and two or three inches in diameter, were brought from the woods, a distance of one hundred yards or more. Wood placed near the fire for lighting purposes for the family was taken up in their presence and spirited to the same door shutter. Mr. Ward's daughter, who was washing the table ware, had all the teaspoons forced from her hands by this unseen power and carried to the same place. A carpente's chisel was found, which Mr. Ward says is not his, and no owner in the community can be found.

A rumbling noise on the house-top attracted their attention, and on examination a bushel or more of dirt or earth was found lodged there, which had the appearance of having been burned in the fire. Some of the earth is still on the house. Mr Editor, if curiosity should carry you there soon, you can see it.

A large bar-plough, weighing fifteen to eighteen pounds, was seen by some of the family to rise up and settle on the top of the house, and you can see it there when you go after the earth. It stands a living witness of all the other incidents here recorded, for no man could throw it where it is.

At what hour did the devil make his appearance in the garden of Eden? Some time in the night. He certainly came after Eve.

LIQUOR LAWS OF YE OLDEN TIMES.

Some of the old laws for the regulation of taverns are rather curious. The following, enacted July 11, 1677, by the 'Great and General Court,' held at Plymouth, will serve as a specimen;

'It is ordered by the Court and the authorities thereof that none shall presume to deliver any wine, strong Liquors, or Cider to any person or persons whom they may suspect will abuse the same; or to any boyes, Gerles, or single persons, tho' pretending to come in the name of any sick person, without a note under the hand of some sober person in whose name they come; on pain of five shillings for every such transgression. The one halfe to the Country and the other halfe to the enformer.

Drudkenness was punished by various penalties, which will seem amusing to us, though doubtless considered otherwise by those who incurred them. Here are a few specimens:

'Sergeant Perkins, ordered to carry forty turfs to the forte, for being drunk.'

'Daniel Clark, found to be an immoderate drinker, fined forty shillings.'

'John Wedgewood, for being in the company of drunkards, to be sent in the stocks.'

'A man who had often been punished for being drunk was now ordered to wear a red D about his neck for a year.'

Such entries may be found scattered through the old Court Records, and occasionally reprimands or dismissals for drunkenness may be found on the church records

Quite a trade had sprung up between the colonies and France and the West Indies. The colonies exported fish, pipe staves, clap-boards, and received in return wines, rum and various other articles. Rev. Increase Mather in a sermon preached at Boston in 1686, thus deplores the introduction and use of rum:

'It is a common thing that later years a kind of strong Drink, called Rum, has been common amongst us, which the poorer sort of People, both in Town and Country, can make themselves drunk with. Those that are poor and wicked too, can for a penny or two pence make themselves drunk. I wish to the Lord some Remedy may be thought of for the prevention to this evil.'

Nearly two hundred years have flown by since the worthy Mather uttered this wish, and as yet no remedy has appeared.

CHANGES IN THE MEANING OF WORDS.

Language shares all the vicissitudes of man. It reflects all the changes in the character, tastes, customs and opinions of a people, and shows how they advance or remeaning of a word changes imperceptibly, until it becomes just the opposite of what it once was. To let, in the common version of the Bible [and in Shakspeare], means to oppose; to day, it means to permit. Anecdote means a short, amusing story; etymologically, it denotes something as yet unpublished. The instant an anecdote is published, it belies its title; it is no longer an anecdote. To prevent, which now means to hinder or obstruct, signified in its Latin etymology to anticipate, to get the start of, and as thus used in the Old Testament. Girl once designated a young person of either sex. Widow was applied to men as well as to women. Astonished literally means thunderstruck, as its deviaton from 'attonare' shows; Milton speaks of a knave who threw heavy stones upon a certain king, 'whereof the one smote the king upon his head, the other astonished his shoulder.' Property and propriety come from the same French word, 'propriete;' so that the Frenchman in New York was not far out of the way when in the panic of '57 he said he 'should lose all his propriety.'

A papa in Greenville, Ky. has a daughter Kate, and Kate has a lover distasteful to papa. On the lover's birthday Kate bought a nice gilt-edged box of perfumery for a gift, and put into it: 'The contents are as delicate and innocent as your love.' Papa got hold of the box before it was sent, and changed the contents for bottles of soothing syrup. Kate is now heart broken by the continued and unexplained absence of her lover.

The observations of a married man have led to the conclusion that money put into mirrors is a good investment, as they afford a marvellous amount of comfort and gratification to a woman. He says his wife thinks just as much of consulting her glass when she ties on her apron as when she ties on her bonnet, and while he goes to the door at once when there is a rap, she exclaims, 'Marcy! Joseph, who is that?' and dashes for a looking-glass.

'Howdy, Aunt Maria?' said a Georgia lady to an old colored lady. 'I ain't yer ant, missis,' loftily replied the aged female; 'and I ain't yor uncle; I'se yer ekal!'

'If a naughty girl should hurt you, like a good girl you would forgive her, wouldn't you?' 'Yes, marm,' she replied, 'if I couldn't catch her.'

Hillsborough Recorder.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 22, 1874.

FOR SUPT. OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

Col. Stephen D. Pool,

OF CRAVEN.

THE UNIVERSITY.

We had intended saying a good deal on the subject of the meeting of the Trustees lately held in Raleigh, but as the subject of the control of the University is to be adjudicated by the Courts, it is needless to say anything at present.

We can only remark upon the perverse malignity of the Governor in his determined purpose to thwart the expressed will of the people. He has ample means of knowing popular sentiment. He knows that the Legislature with an approach to almost perfect unanimity passed the amendment which restored the University to the control of the Legislature. He knows, that in the Assembly, it was no party measure, Republicans vying with the Conservatives in their interest in the subject. He knows that at the popular election, the amendment was carried by a majority not far behind that of any of the other eight.

He knows moreover, by the experience of the past four years, that the University never will revive under the system he proposes to continue. It now languishes, almost in its last agonies. It must finally perish, if it is not resuscitated by the modes now attempted to be carried out, and which the Governor so perversely opposes.

But in his bitter hatred to the party that opposes him, he would welcome the worst fate of his Alma Mater, would see it sink into utter ruin, would see the cause of education disastrously checked, would even array himself against his own party friends, that his petty malice, or his lust of power may be gratified.

We hope the Judiciary will prove itself more enlightened than Tod R. Caldwell.

BINDING WHITE CHILDREN TO NEGROES.

We learn from Mr. Mills, the enthusiastic friend of the Orphan, that his contact with these unfortunates has developed the horrid fact that many white children in this State have either been bound out to negroes, or are serving them in a menial capacity. He thinks that in Charlotte alone thirty or forty instances of this kind may be found. One case of peculiar horror he discovered there; that of a white woman the widow of a Confederate soldier, employed as a cook in a negro family, and her daughter, a child of ten years of age, acting as scullion. Mr. Mills obtained possession of the latter, and took it to Oxford, but such was its ragged condition, that until he was aided by a benevolent JEW with a supply of clothing, she was unfit to be placed on the cars.

There is something so appalling in this degradation of the white race, that if necessary it should revolutionize the whole system of laws relative to apprentices. The white was never made to be in subjection to the black. Nature, tradition, usage, all rebel against it. It may gratify the negro, that time has brought its revenges; that the position of the races is reversed; that the bottom rail is indeed on top.

But it must not be submitted to. If poverty or moral degradation drive parents to this terrible resort for sustenance, the law must step in and prevent it. If the parent is beyond redemption, or relief, the child must be saved. Humanity, christian duty, the wisest policy of society cannot stand by and permit this great wrong to go on. They must not permit this reversal of nature's law, this subjection of the superior to the lower.

This question is newly brought before the public. It should not be suffered to flag until the remedy is applied.

☞ Gov. Caldwell came to the rescue of the Atlantic Road, and saved it from the clutches of the Midland Company. We know nothing of this latter concern, except that it is entirely foreign in its composition. Perhaps if they carried out their plans, they might do something for themselves, or for Beaufort. Most certainly they would damage most seriously the North Carolina Road. The rail road interests of the State are so monopolized by foreign control, that Consolidations of all kinds have become odious, because they mean that the sceptre, has departed from the people, and that alien rulers strive to control them.

☞ A Radical paper pokes fun at R. M. T. Hunter of Va., because, after having occupied several lucrative offices, his old age finds him poor. This is not the way with the radicals. Whenever they get into the public crib, they come out fat, and they feel themselves disgraced, and lose all their credit for smartness, if they do not.

DEATH OF HON. H. T. CLARK.

This gentleman died in Tarboro on the 14th inst. During the administration of Gov. Ellis, he was President of the Senate, and on the death of that official, Mr. Clark succeeded to the Gubernatorial chair by virtue of his office. He remained in office about a year. Exercising his functions during the exciting period of the war, he proved his qualifications by discretion and firmness, and was altogether an able incumbent of the important post.

He was about 60 years of age.

COL. S. D. POOL.

The Conservative Democratic Executive Committee, met in session in Raleigh on the 16th inst., and nominated this gentleman for the Office of Supt. of Public Instruction.

Our preferences for this gentleman were freely expressed some time since. We will therefore say no more at present except to express our satisfaction that our estimates of Col. Poole' fitness for the position were so freely endorsed by the Committee.

☞ The frost of Sunday night, a week since, played havoc with market gardens. In the vicinity of Norfolk, where the trucking business is very large, and where the profits depend upon a supply of vegetables in advance of that from other points, the destruction is nearly complete, and the loss is estimated at half a million dollars.

Much damage was also done in the vicinity of Wilmington.

The fruit crop in these parts is almost ruined.

☞ There is this difference between the Democrats and the Radicals, that when the former find a rogue among them, they punish him, while the others crowd around him, applaud him, and protect him, or if a conviction is had, a ready pardon is granted. Tweed is serving out his term in a felons cell, while Hodges the defaulting paymaster, was released after a months imprisonment, and his wounded feelings soothed with an office. Coleman is in the Penitentiary, while Sanborn and Jayne, the plunderers of hundreds of thousands, defy investigation, and rally round them the impudent defence of Butler and his crew.

☞ The Civil rights bill is revamped and thrown in again as an apple of discord. The Judiciary Committee has reported one not a whit less offensive than Sumners' so far as we can see.

Well, if it is pushed, it will assuredly break down the radical party in this State, and bring about a division between its white and colored components. The radicals in the last Legislature were wise enough to see that, and deprecate so fatal a measure. If it is carried, good bye to radical majorities in North Carolina. That good, at any rate will come out of it.

☞ Coffee drinkers will be glad to learn that prices are falling. Speculators took a bad time to run the market; money was too scarce, and the country made up its mind to go without rather than submit to imposition. No doubt fortunes have been lost in the vain effort to force prices up and nobody is sorry. The fall so far is not very great, but it goes on. At Rio the decline has been more marked, and the effect of that market will soon be materially felt here.

☞ Another huge steamer has been lost on the western passage. The L'Amerique, a French vessel, went down, as did the Europe, in mid ocean from a leak caused by lengthening the vessel from its original size to the length of 410 feet. The passengers 75 in number, and the crew were all rescued by a passing vessel.

☞ The Lynchburg and Danville Rail Road has reached the Dan River, and the first passenger train left Danville on Monday for Pittsylvania Court House. The work on Fitzgerald's cut is not yet complete, and the trains come to a point about a mile above the county bridge.

☞ William Washburne, the present Governor of Massachusetts has been elected to the U. S. Senate in place of Sumner.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE PAIN-KILLER,
Manufactured by
PERRY DAVIS & SON.

HAS won for itself a reputation unsurpassed in medical preparations. The universality of the demand for the PAIN KILLER is a novel, interesting, and surprising feature in the history of this medicine. The Pain-Killer is now regularly sold in large and steadily increasing quantities, not only to general agents in every State and Territory of the Union, and every Province in British America, but to Buenos Ayres, Brazil, Uraguay, Peru, Chili and other South American States, to the Sandwich Islands, to Cuba and other West India Islands; to England and Continental Europe; to Mozambique, Madagascar, Zanibar and other African lands; to Australia and Calcutta, Rangoon and other places in India. It has also been sent to China, and we doubt if there is any foreign port or any inland city in Africa or Asia, which is frequented by American and European missionaries, travelers or traders, into which the Pain-Killer has not been introduced.

The extent of its usefulness is another great feature of this remarkable medicine. It is not only the best thing ever known, as everybody will confess, for Bruises, cuts, burns, &c. but for Dysentery or Cholera, or any sort of bowel complaint, it is a remedy unsurpassed for efficiency and rapidity of action. In the great cities of British India and the West India Islands and other hot climates, it has become the Standard Medicine for all such complaints, as well as dyspepsia, liver complaints, and other kindred disorders. For coughs and colds, canker, asthma and rheumatic difficulties it has been proved by the most abundant and convincing trials and testimony, to be an invaluable medicine. The proprietors are in possession of letters from persons of the highest character and responsibility, testifying in unequivocal terms to the cures effected and the satisfactory results produced, in an endless variety of cases by the use of this great medicine. That the Pain-Killer is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it is amply proved by the unparalleled popularity it has attained. It is a sure and effective remedy. It is sold in almost every country in the world, and is becoming more and more popular every year. Its healing properties have been fully tested, all over the world and it need only to be known to be prized.

Sold by all Druggists.

Cash System
BEGINS AT THE
BRICK STORE
Monday April 20th 1874.

I HAVE been selling GOODS on my own account for three years and what I have made is on my books, which does me no good. I cannot meet my indebtedness with these accounts.

THE CREDIT SYSTEM
Operates INJURIOUSLY only to the HONEST MAN.

In doing this credit business, we have to sell goods at MORE THAN THEIR VALUE to the CASH AND PAYING MEN
to protect ourselves against those who do not pay. We have parties owing us fifty to five hundred dollars who have been owing from two to eighteen months; they come in and price an article and then blow you up, and want to know why it is they can send to Raleigh or some other little town and buy it at a
LESS PRICE.

The reason is, you send the money to pay for it, and have got me tied so fast that I cannot sell you or others at these prices. I am tired of hearing of what can be done at other points.

I shall go to work and
PRICE MY GOODS AT CASH VALUE
AND SELL AT ONE PRICE.

I want every one that pays for what they buy to help me out in this new undertaking by coming in, and see what difference the CASH system will make in his years supply.

I will take such BARTER as I can handle at CASH prices.

I give this notice in time so as to treat all alike.

I dont want to lose any Customers, but if I do, I do it in self defence. I do it rather than ruin myself.

To my Customers

That have been running accounts and paying promptly, I will say, that it is to your interest to help me out in this matter by paying in future for what you get, the difference in prices will enable you to save 25 per cent in twelve months.

In the first place if you pay Cash you will buy a great deal less than if you had a running account, and secondly, you will buy for 20 per cent less. To the party that always pays when they purchase I will say it is the scheme for you.

You have been paying for others' bad debts.

And I am determined now that your money shall bring its worth.

Remember April 20th
THE
CASH SYSTEM BEGINS.
GOOD BARTER TAKEN AT CASH PRICES.

I AM receiving the NICEST line of
SPRING GOODS
That I have yet shown you. Accounts unpaid on April the 20th had better be looked after they must be settled up some way. MONEY or BARTER, Don't want any notes.

W. H. Naumann the gymnastic instructor at Horner and Graves' school has gone to Bingham's school to teach the young idea there how to jump.

Mumps have been all the rage here for some time. Most of the young men have fallen in with the fashion.

Base Ball Match.

A trial of skill came off on Saturday afternoon in the grounds of Horner and Graves' school, between the "Boys in Gray" Base Ball club from Binghams school, and the Independent club of Horner's school. A large number of spectators including many ladies, animated the players by their presence and gave life and brilliancy to the spectacle.

Want of space precludes a full notice of all the details of the game. We append general results. It will be seen that the Independents won the day, and retrieved the laurels they lost in the contest with the Raleigh boys. The 'boys in gray' will no doubt prepare themselves for another passage at arms and strive again for the palm of victory.

The following is the score:

Narrow Escape.

During the freshets of week before last the two little sons of Maj W. N. Patterson of this county, narrowly escaped drowning in Morgans creek on their way home from Chapel Hill. The ford had washed out by the flood to the depth of ten or twelve feet. The driver of the wagon was ignorant of this and only found it out when the wagon sunk from under him. The little boys sprang out from the rear of the wagon and with difficulty gained the shore. The driver was washed down the stream, but the boys extended a pole to him from the bank, and rescued him. The horses and wagon were carried down a hundred yards or more but were finally saved.

Continued Rains.

The weather is simply horrible. Scarcely a ray of sunshine has enlightened the landscape for a week. Sunday was a day of continued rain, and to-day [Monday] the streams are nearly all impassable. A gloomy lookout for the farmer.

A Card

TO THE VOTERS OF HILLSBORO' TOWNSHIP.

Fellow Citizens:—By a petition of one fourth of the voters of your township, an election has been ordered to be held on the first Monday of May to see if the sale of spirituous liquors shall be continued in the Township or not.

The evils of intemperance are in all respects so great and so wide-spread, and spreading in the lands the loss to the nation in its moral character and in its productive industry so great; the costs of prosecution for crime, and the taxation to support paupers made by intemperance so heavy; the failure of the appeals to reason and by moral suasion, so ineffective; the woes and lamentations, the direct fruits of intemperance, come up still so loud and so piercing from all sides; the ruin of body and soul how dreadful; and the fact that tens of thousands of our fellow beings are annually sent to a dishonored grave as the result of the "drinking usages of society" all combined, are enough to rouse us all to the importance of doing our whole duty in driving the evil from our land.

The traffic in intoxicating liquors is at war with every interest of society; is in deadly hostility to every man, woman, and child to all eternity; and such a business ought not to be carried out in a civilized and Christian community. We say without fear of contradiction, that the evils resulting from the traffic are greater than from all other causes combined.

Let us then be at work for the young and old; for the poor and wretched drunkard, steeped in degradation; and for the unpolluted child, as well as for the young men of our land, who are the hope of our country. Let us be up and doing. 'Work while it is called to-day!' One hand for moral suasion, and one for prohibition.

We appeal to the philanthropist, you, who would see the human race better, nobler and more elevated intellectually.

Drink degrades a man to the very lowest. Then, if you would keep your principles at heart, help on a movement which has the bettering of humanity for its object.

We appeal to the Christian. "No drunkard shall inherit the Kingdom of Heaven.' Then do you help us by giving us your vote, for while drink exists, there must be drunkards, and these must always be excluded from the fold of God.

We appeal to fathers. They have sons who must stand or fall by their character for uprightness, integrity and sobriety, or the reverse. Let them then surround their sons with a safeguard by voting for prohibition.

We appeal to young men. Life is before you, full of temptations. You must keep yourself from them if you would be successful. Shun as a pest, that which can cause you to forget the true dignity of manhood.

We appeal to the drunkard. Gather up your resolution. Think of the happy days when you were a useful member of society. Be yourself again. "Come and go with us, and we will do thee good."

We appeal to the irresolute. If you waver, you may live to repent it to the last day of your life. Ours is the safest side. Do not trifle with your convictions. Throw your weight into the scale of the right, the noble and good, by giving us your votes, and my word for it you will not repent it.

We appeal to the doctors. They know that drink kills. We appeal to them to do what is right.

Last of all, but not least, We appeal to the Minister of the Gospel. His is a philanthropic calling of the very highest order. As he desires to save his fellow man from the wrath to come, he must approve of every method however humble, which conduces to that end. They, who of all others, who are engaged in the best of good works, should lend their influence to doing all they can to drive intemperance from the land. Give us your helping hand, by which we shall be enabled to influence many more.

We appeal to one and all. Cast off the chains of intemperance, and let your minds, your bodies and your all, be spent for the spread of temperance. Let us use every effort and do all we can to rescue our fellow-creatures from a drunkard's degraded life, a drunkard's miserable death, and a drunkard's awful eternity.

PROHIBITION.

Fire at Company Shops

On Friday morning the store occupied by Col C. A. McAllister was destroyed by fire from the spontaneous combustion of rags stored in the building. The building, a large one of brick, was used for several purposes. The rail-road company had a quantity of its supplies stored in a portion of it, Col McAllister had a store in one wing, and the Good Templars and Masons had each Halls in the upper story. The loss is estimated as follows: McAllister $4000. D Worth $500. Rail Road Co $6000 on building and $1,500 in material. Worth was the only one not insured. We do not know positively whether the Masons and Templars saved any thing or whether they were insured.

Thousands of Promising Youths, of both sexes, go down to untimely graves, from general debility and weakness, who might be saved by fortifying their systems with Iron. The Peruvian Syrup is an Iron Tonic prepared expressly to supply this vitalizing element, and is the only preparation of iron that will assimilate at once with the blood.

DEMOREST, for April is at hand with its accustomed punctuality, and in its usually attractive garb. It is the thing for the ladies, the model of elegance, and the conservator of good taste.

Maj. Bingham's Address.

By invitation of a committee appointed by a meeting of the citizens of this township held some weeks since, Maj. Bingham addressed a large audience of gentlemen and ladies at the Masonic Lodge on Friday evening, on the subject of temperance and the prohibitory law.

The address departed very materially from the traditionary track, so long and so uselessly followed. It was totally devoid of fanatic fury, made no attempt to excite the feelings of the hearers by horrid pictures of ruin, crime, and degradation, nor on the other hand, did it aim at applause by the clap-trap of stale anecdote.

Some of the views taken by the lecturer might startle the extreme friends of the temperance cause. He boldly asserted that the use of drink in itself was no sin, no more than the use of any of the other stimulants in common use. It was the abuse that made the evil. And on this point, the speaker made ingenious and forcible use of his studies in ethnology.

He showed conclusively that while some races could indulge in the habitual use of wines and alcoholic drinks without injury, the mental constitution, and physical conformation of the Anglo Saxon invariably extended the use into abuse. The Creator has given this race a brain developed already to the highest point of vigor and excitability. He had given it, "a brain of fire, an arm of steel, and a heart of lion." Stimulants acted as a flame upon a material already prepared for combustion. The use of them, therefore by this race, inevitably runs into abuse, becomes a national vice, and therefore the proper subject of restraint.

The lecturer was very clear and forcible in his illustrations of natural rights, and the powers of society to restrain them. Gross misconception existed on this subject.

The speaker did not hold the grog seller as primarily the first and only subject of restraint. He was only the creature of a depraved public sentiment, only the minister to wants and appetites sanctioned by the customs of society. A demand will always create a supply, and so long as drinking was tolerated by the customs of the country, so long would the taste find men ready to serve it. A sound public opinion must be cultivated and grow into strength before the traffic would cease. But as in this case supply and demand react on each other, the vender should be restrained by heavy taxation, or other legal modes of control, by which the business would be narrowed to confined bounds.

It is unnecessary to follow the speaker farther. It is enough to say that his audience were highly delighted, and instructed. It was a speech from its power, its aptness of illustration, its warmth of purpose, and its entire freedom from fanatic zeal, calculated to do much good, and we should be glad to learn that Maj. B. could work on this subject in larger fields.

We hope the friends of prohibition will take fresh courage, and go to work with renewed energy to settle the question definitely at the approaching election.

HEALTH! BEAUTY!!

STRONG AND PURE RICH BLOOD—INCREASE OF FLESH AND WEIGHT—CLEAR SKIN AND BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION SECURED TO ALL.

DR. RADWAY'S Sarsaparillian Resolvent

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES; SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES, THE BODY UNDERGOES, UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT

Every Day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine, and other Fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumous discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night sweats, Loss of Sperm and all wastes of the life principle, are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure—a cure is certain; for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving, and flesh and weight increasing.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional, and Skin diseases; but it is the only positive cure for

Kidney & Bladder Complaints,

Urinary and Womb diseases, Gravel, Diabetes, Dropsy, Stoppage of Water, Incontinence of Urine, Bright's Disease, Albuminuria, and in all cases where there are brick-dust deposits, or the water is thick, cloudy, mixed with substances like the white of an egg, or threads like white silk, or there is a morbid, dark, bilious appearance, and white bone-dust deposits, and when there is a pricking, burning sensation when passing water, and pain in the Small of the Back and along the Loins.

Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN AN IRON TONIC SYRUP

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.
